

The Culture Lover's February Guide

Here's how you can get your streaming and socially distanced culture fix this month.

By Alison S. Cohn and Ariana Marsh
February 1, 2021

Installation view of Figure Out: Abstraction in Self-Taught Art, on view at Andrew Edlin Gallery as a part of the Outsider Art Fair 2021 | Photo: Olya Vysotskaya

While most global art fairs have gone online only during the pandemic, Outsider Art Fair, which showcases the work of self-taught artists, has opted for a unique hybrid in-person and digital format this year. The fair will be spread across galleries around Manhattan, each operating with a timed reservations system, in addition to a free online platform. Adopting a gallery-share model, host galleries Hirschl & Adler, Salon 94 Freemans, Shin Gallery, and Andrew Edlin Gallery sourced works from a number of OAF dealers, presented as thematic exhibitions with such intriguing titles as “Small World” and “Keep Your Lamps Trimmed and Burning.”